AIG RETIREMENT SERVICES SELECTED AS EXCLUSIVE RETIREMENT PLAN PROVIDER FOR OKLAHOMA CITY COMMUNITY COLLEGE AND COLLIN COLLEGE

HOUSTON, October 1, 2019 — AIG Retirement Services (formerly VALIC), a leading defined contribution retirement plan provider for tax-exempt and public sector employers, today announced two new exclusive relationships with higher education plans.

AIG Retirement Services will now serve as the new exclusive retirement plan provider for Oklahoma City Community College and Collin College.

“AIG Retirement Services has been helping people achieve financial and retirement security for over 60 years,” said Glenn Harris, Executive Vice President, AIG Retirement Services. “We believe that pairing technology with the support of our advisors, using data to deeply understand and improve plan health, and partnering closely with each plan to improve retirement readiness for their employees are key drivers in helping us deepen relationships and why we’re increasingly being selected as the exclusive retirement plan provider for our clients.”

Oklahoma City Community College selected AIG Retirement Services because of their experienced local advisor team who will partner closely with the plan to increase participation and help its 664 participants achieve financial wellness and prepare successfully for retirement.

Collin College, a community college located in Collin County, TX, consolidated from 18 vendors to AIG Retirement Services, citing the company’s personalized approach, intuitive technology and local advisor support as key reasons for selecting AIG. Collin College has over 1,150 eligible employees.

“We have made significant investments in technology in recent years, allowing participants to access their plan information anytime, anywhere,” continued Harris. “While technology is important, we’ve found that participants are most successful when they also work closely with their financial advisor. It’s this combination of high-tech and high-touch that really allows people to plan for and achieve their goals.”
